The Art of Solving a Problem:

The Z Factor:

The Application of fintech to the global casino sector will have far reaching impact which will improve efficiency and will also save cost and much more.

Problems at the Present:

High roller Elite Gamers travel to Macau very year in numbers of hundred to play games like Baccarat and others that has stake of millions of dollars at minimum. These gamers sit in the elite areas and on the top tiers enjoying the great game which mostly depends on sheer luck. These syndicates who manage the game manage millions of dollars on daily basis and have the task managing games for each such elite gamer who is willing to stake millions in the game. There is huge charge for managing the game as well as repatriation money, etc.

The job of the junket is high with pressure as he has to manage millions of dollars on daily basis for each of the visiting elite gamer who may win or lose on that given day. A minimum of 5% is charged basically to manage all this financial arrangements. For the players, they are basically required to pay a fees between 5-7% of the amount they win in the game. It thus becomes very difficult to manage such a huge sum of money on daily basis.

A respectable junket in general manages 100 elite gamers at a particular time on a given day in Macau and that mostly results in the flow of $250 million transaction. The frictional cost that junkets of both sides suffer due to constant churn of players and transfer of the sum on both the sides with repatriation of winning amount and positioning of the amount at stake is both punitive and huge.

Solution to the given Problem:

We offer the fintech solutions to the junkets who lose money due to frictional transactions and the huge trouble of managing such huge amount. Here we give the solution of converting the whole amount into a token which can be transferred as per need and can also be tracked reducing the trouble of managing such huge amount and reducing other expense and extra costs resulting in profit for both the parties including the shareholders in the game. Thus tokenizing both the stake monies and the gaming chips ensure the safety in transaction of such huge amount presenting solution to the junkets, the elite gamers, the stakeholders and others with security in transaction, proper tracking of the money flow, reduce in extra cost and also reduction in frictional loss.

By connecting here at Zed Coin, the elite gamers can easily convert their fiat money into digital tokens which they can use in their games at the required time. They can thus store the tokens in their account which can be easily accessed from their smart phone wallet at any time and can be used during transaction. Using a brief security system one can manage and convert coins to their need.

With ease, the gamer can easily and effortlessly convert the zed coin into the chip for using it at the junket. After the gaming process is over, one can thus again can convert the chip back to the zed coin which could later be converted to money. One can easily convert the zed coin into any digital money just using their smartphone. One can also store the coin in the wallet for future gaming at will for the time they deem fit.
